

LIBBY FISCHER HELLMANN

AUTHOR — SPEAKER — BROADCASTER

AUTHOR

With 15 novels and 25 short stories under her belt, Libby has been writing her way around the crime fiction genre. She has published a private eye series, an amateur sleuth series, a police procedural, 4 stand-alone historical thrillers, and even a cozy novella. She has always been a sucker for a good story.

SPEAKER

That's why she has developed several interactive workshops on the craft of writing as well as how to publish and promote. Libby is often invited to deliver keynote presentations at events and conferences—she enjoys helping others tell their stories and hopes her audiences enjoy hers.

BROADCASTER

That's why she also hosts two monthly interview shows: Second Sunday Crime (Authors on the Air Internet Radio) and SOLVED!, a streaming internet TV show. She interviews mostly crime authors and experts in law enforcement, forensics, and cybersecurity—to hear their stories.

Originally from Washington, DC, Libby has called Chicago home longer than she'll admit. Her degree in history came from the U. of Pennsylvania, and she earned a MFA in film production from NYU. Why did she shift from movies to books? Now, that's an interesting story...
